VOL. IV. RALEIGH, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1868. NO. 77.

The Daily Sentinel.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

MY DAUGHTER.

BY THE LATE GOV. SWAIN, OF N. C.

On this her fiftieth natal day
What blessings shall I wish my daughter?
Gems of sereenest brightest ray?
Or diamonds of the purest water?

The richest pearl old ocean yields?
The ruby of most dazzling hue?
The fairest flowers, that deck the fields—
All glittering with the morning dew?

Silver and gold in sums untold?
Servants in long and proud array?
Statues and busts of noblest mould;
And wares of China's finest clay?

Looms from India's fairy loom?
Shawls from the far off vale Cashmere?
Spices and myrrh, and ostrich plume?
And music's voice to charm the ear?

Houses and lands, and flocks and herds?
Arabian steeds and Persian carriage?
Grottos, and groves and countless birds?
All to be her's on day of marriage?

'Tis not for these my prayers arise,
Earth is too small my hopes to measure—
Ah we, beyond the upper skies,
The Christian heart must find its treasure.

FACETIÆ.

An invalid disturbed all the inmates of his boarding house up-town recently, by imitating a dog. When asked why he did, he said he had been ordered by his physician to take port wine and bark.

The young lady who was frozen with horror, and subsequently melted into tears, was carried out, and consigned to a watery grave.

Cupid shoots with a rifle now, and not with a bow and arrow. Else how is it that girls can hear the popping of the question?

Brokers make many a big man whole; and also make a big hole in many a man.

An Illinois paper says there is a man in Olney so dirty that the assessors put him down as real estate.

The man who waxes strong every day—the shoemaker.

It doesn't follow that a man dislikes his bed because he turns his back upon it.

"What kind of board do you get at your house?" said a friend to Binks the other day. "Well, we plow during the week, and plank down a good deal Saturday," said the cadaverous Binks.

What is that which, when thrown out, may be caught without hands? A hint.

Whatever else you may choose to sip, let alone gos-sip.

When is a man thinner than a shingle? When he is a shaving.

To lose your watch interferes with your pleasure; at least it prevents you from having a good time.

To a bonnet.—Though lost to sight to memory dear.

An old lady hearing of a pedestrian's "great feat" wondered why they didn't interfere with his fast walking.

The proof of the adage that time is money is found in the fact that times change.

Many persons are in advance of their age, but an old maid generally manages to be about ten years behind hers.

The only way to take things is—easy.—Otherwise the chances of detection are very much increased.

Josh Billings says he has "seen some awful bad throte diseases completely cured in 3 days by simply joining a temperance society."

The Kentucky giantess who weighed 812 pounds was engaged to a Mr. Wayless when she died.

A friend: Why are fashionable young ladies' brains like a speckled trout? Because they love to sport under a waterfall.

Some descendant of Solomon has wisely remarked that those who go to law for damages are sure to get them.

WHAT A SPIDER EATS PER DIEM.—In order to test what a spider can do in the way of eating, we rose about daybreak in the morning to supply his fine web with a fly. At first, however, the spider did not come from his retreat, so we peeped among the leaves, and discovered that an earwig had been caught, and was now being feasted on. The spider left the earwig, rolled up the fly, and at once returned to his "first course." This was done at half past 5 A. M., in September. At 7 A. M., the earwig had been demolished, and the spider, after resting awhile, and probably enjoying a nap, came down for the fly, which he had finished at 9 A. M. A little while after nine we supplied him with a daddy long-legs, which he ate by noon. At 1 o'clock, a blow fly was greedily seized, and then immediately, with an appetite apparently no worse for his previous indulgence, commenced on the blow-fly.

During the day, and towards evening, a great many small green flies, or what are popularly termed midges, had been caught in the web; of these we counted one hundred and twenty, all dead and fast prisoners in the spider's net. Soon after dark, provided with a lantern, we went to examine whether the spider was suffering from indigestion, or in any other way, from his previous meals; instead, however, of being thus affected, he was employed in rolling up together the various little green midges which he then took to his retreat for tea. This process he repeated, carrying up the lots in little detachments, until the web was eaten, for the web and its contents were bundled up together.

A slight rest of about an hour was followed by the most industrious web making process, and before daybreak another web was ready to be used in the same way. Taking the relative size of the spider, and of the creatures it ate, and applying this to a man, it would be somewhat as follows: At daybreak a small alligator was eaten; at 7 A. M. a lamb; at 9 A. M., a young camelopard; at 1 o'clock a sheep, and during the night one hundred and twenty larks. This, we believe, would be a very fair allowance for a man during twenty-four hours, and could we find one gifted with such an appetite and digestion, we can readily comprehend how he might spin five miles of web without killing himself, provided he possessed the necessary machinery.—English paper.

THE SIAMESE TWINS.—The question of the separation of this curious human combination by a surgical operation is at present attracting attention. The Louisville Medical Journal (edited by Dr. Gaillard, formerly of this city,) says that there never has been a doubt among the medical men, either of this country or Europe, as to the practicability of severing the tie that binds Chang and Eng together. There is, it is asserted, nothing more in common between these Siamese than would have been acquired by any other twins indissolubly united by a hempen or metallic cord. The decision given by the profession in Europe and America, thirty-eight years ago, when this case was first put on exhibition, was that the ligament of union was cartilaginous, probably a prolongation of the ensiform cartilage from the sternum, and that the chief if not the only objection to its division was that the peritoneum might be involved in the operation. The medical profession then decided that the operation was, moreover, not one demanded by surgery, for the twins had lived and might yet live for years. The question of separation, therefore, was with themselves or their guardians, and not with the surgeons—There was no disagreement, no difference among the doctors on this subject. The case was involved in no mystery, and the diagnosis was easily made.

COME TO A. CREECH'S!

For Ladies' Goods! For Gentlemen's Goods! For Misses' Goods! For Boys' Goods! Ditto for Children!

MY STOCK IS LARGE AND VERY COMplete. Allow me to say that you see some very strange advertisements. What a lucky set of individuals!

Now just let ME tell you, that there is more humbug than poetry in all this. Don't every man, woman and child know that it is humbug—large enough to be seen even with one eye shut? So let them talk, puff and blow, but stop, LOOK OUT! HANDS OFF! and show your good judgment by

COMING TO CREECH'S

PRESERVE YOUR ORGANIZATIONS.

Our suggestions to the Democrats and Conservatives of this State, to preserve their organizations, to give a truce to National politics, and to turn their attention to State affairs, and especially to the improvement of their personal pecuniary condition, does not seem to be well received by our Radical opponents. They seem to apprehend opposition of a violent and revolutionary character. This idea is hostile to our purpose and is at war with the principles of the Democratic party. We advocate peace and quiet, law and order, and no changes in our State government policy, but such as experience demonstrates to the people to be wise and necessary.

During the late State Convention, we endeavored to impress upon that body the necessity of confining itself to the changes in our Constitution required by the "reconstruction acts," and carefully to avoid any radical changes in the general character of the State Constitution. Had this wise course been taken by the Radical Convention, the objections to the State government would have been brought within a narrow compass.

It is those Radical alterations in the Constitution of the State, not required by the "reconstruction acts," to which we have alluded, as specially requiring the attention of the people in the future. They change violently our system, made sacred and valuable by time and experience, and introduce new systems not adapted to our population or to their scanty resources. They require a large addition to the paid officiary of the State, already as great as our means would allow, and fix upon our people an amount of taxation, which experience will prove severely crushing. The very system imposes, almost necessarily, upon us, not only enormous taxation and an increase of offices, but the filling of those offices with men unused to the duties required of them and frequently incompetent.

Nor do these changes offer any compensation to the people for this increase of burdens. The scheme demands a large increase of population and capital, which might be attracted to a new country, unobstructed by heavy taxation, by a large pauper population and uncontrolled by negro suffrage. But, alas! North Carolina offers no prospect that these extravagant visions of the carpet-baggers and others will be realized. Here there is no room for new schemes of improvement, without capital and population, but such as are offered to the unscrupulous speculator, whose aim is to enrich himself by the utter prostration of our best people. No country can recover from its prostration, where the lands and the little wealth remaining are being fast concentrated into fewer hands, destroying the energy and the encouragement to labor among the masses. The effect of this is to make the poor poorer, and the rich richer.

The inducements to immigration, too, are lessened daily by the increase of taxation and a growing State debt. People, seeking a new location, will hardly fail to enquire into the inducements offered. A good climate and good lands are not sufficient to induce settlers, when the country is in debt and heavily taxed. This every man must see. And unless our State affairs are regulated by these tried principles of political economy, all attempts at permanent improvement will fail. The world is seeking wealth. Every man is in search of the almighty dollar, and until the population of Europe and of the North can be made to see and feel that wealth can be obtained easier in the South and Southwest, than in the Northwest, the tide of population and capital will still go to the Northwest.

Hence, we say to the Democrats and Conservatives, keep up your organizations, AND WATCH AND WAIT. Let the practical operation of the new State government be carefully watched. We do not advise that it be judged harshly or uncharitably, but let its real character and results be fairly investigated, and let the remedies be applied as soon as possible!

SOUTH CAROLINA.—We learn, by a private telegram from Columbia, that it is thought that South Carolina has gone for Seymour and Blair by from 2,500 to 3,000 majority. The Democrats also elect two out of the four members of Congress, viz: J. P. Reed, in the third District, and D. D. Simpson, in the fourth.

IT IS not generally known that an election was held in Virginia on Tuesday last. Such is nevertheless the case. In Alexandria the Seymour ticket carried the day.—Under the act of Congress, which provided that no electoral vote should be counted from States not represented in Congress, Virginia will of course be ruled out.

TWO DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN are said to be elected in Tennessee, notwithstanding the wholesale disfranchisement of the decent white men of the State.

GOV. SEYMOUR'S majority in the State of New York is estimated at 12,000 and that of Gov. Hoffman at 27,760.

From the New York World.

THE DECLINE OF RADICALISM.

Just at this precise moment, when the exultation of the Radicals over the victory which they fancy themselves to have won is at its height, it is important to fix upon the public mind the fact that this so-called victory has not even seriously checked the rapid progress of the Radical party towards disintegration and destruction. The Radical party carried the seeds of dissolution in its bosom from the hour of its birth. Its main ideas were out of harmony with the progress of the nation and of the world.—If one may use such a phrase, the party was born decrepid. What life it has ever had has been given to it, not by the force of thought, but by the force of passion. Its leaders have been men, not of ideas, but of prejudices. The most distinguished of living English philosophers, whose political sympathies have brought him into relations with most of the conspicuous Americans who have visited Great Britain of late years, recently remarked to a friend, "all the half educated Americans I meet are Republicans, all the really educated ones are Democrats." In this observation lies the secret of the impotence of the Radical party. Notwithstanding its vast patronage and its hold upon the worser natures of men, it has been steadily losing ground simply for the lack of life in the brain. That this must be so might well have been demonstrated a priori. As Goethe greatly sang, so the world; political experience preaches the lesson that reason, like water, seeks its level. A party which, after eight years of power, still hesitates between a Sumner and a Butler as its leader, has from the first carried death in its face.

But the a posteriori demonstration is not less decisive. The election of General Grant is confessedly due to the mistakes of the Democratic organization and to the personal popularity of the candidate himself, and not at all to any hold which Radicalism and the Radicals still have upon the public confidence. But even those who admit this truth do not know, perhaps, how strikingly true it is. And it may, therefore, be worth while to show briefly, and in a tabulated form, the progressive decline of this most mischievous and rickety political organization since its accidental advent to power in 1860. Nothing can show this more clearly than the fact that, notwithstanding the great prestige of General Grant, his majorities are almost without exception reduced, and greatly reduced, from those by which Abraham Lincoln was re-elected in 1864.

We leave, for the moment, out of the question those States which, in 1868, not even the prestige of Gen. Grant's name has been able to save to the Radical leaders, and take those which are still popularly, though, as we shall show, incorrectly, supposed to be holding fast in the religion of the great uprooters. Foremost of these is Massachusetts. Massachusetts, in 1864, gave Mr. Lincoln a majority of 78,000 votes. In 1868 she gives Gen. Grant a majority, at the utmost, of 25,000 votes, being an absolute falling off of 3,000 votes, or about four per cent. The majority for Grant in Indiana is less by 10,000 votes, or fifty per cent. than in 1864 was the majority for Lincoln. In Ohio, General Grant receives a majority of 40,000 against a majority of 60,000 for Lincoln in 1864, being a falling off of thirty-three per cent. The majority for Grant in Pennsylvania is five per cent. less than for Lincoln in 1864. The only important exception, indeed, to the general decay of the Radical vote in States which have gone for Grant is to be found in Illinois, Gen. Grant's own State, which was sedulously "stumped" for him, not by such disreputable wrecks of the Union army as Sickles and Kilpatrick, but by the ablest, most respectable, and most popular of the Western generals. This fact, of itself, is decisive as to the part played by Gen. Grant's own name in the salvation of the Radical canvass. If we pass now to the States which have been carried against Radicalism by the great reaction, in spite of Gen. Grant's name and the glamour of military glory, we find at the head of the list the imperial State of New York. This State, which contains within her borders more than one eighth of the total population and more than one-fifth of the total wealth of the Union, in 1864, gave Mr. Lincoln a majority of 6,800 votes. In 1868, she gives Mr. Seymour a majority of 10,000 votes, being a change of more than one hundred and fifty per cent. in favor of Democratic and Conservative ideas. The magnificent central State of Kentucky, which gave a majority of 36,000 against Lincoln in 1864, more than doubles that majority against Grant in 1868. The State of California, which represents our national power and progress, and the liberal ideas of the century on the Pacific, as New York represents them on the Atlantic—the State of California gave Mr. Lincoln a majority of 18,000 votes. In 1868, she certainly has not given General Grant—if she has gone for him at all—a majority of more than two or three thousand, and she has probably given his opponent a majority of from three to five thousand votes.

These facts tell their own story. They are the handwriting on the wall to the profligate and unprincipled schemers, the ignorant and unscrupulous fanatics, who have so long misruled the land. To the waiters and watchers for a day of deliverance, of reason, and of true progress, they are as a rainbow of hope spanning the skies, and making it sure that the green earth is indeed about to reappear.

THE NEXT HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The New York Herald says the Democrats will have eighty-four members, which is more than a third of the next House of Representatives. Seventy six members make over a third, and the Tribune concedes eighty-three to the Democrats. The Tribune makes an error in claiming a Republican as chosen from Kentucky, and possibly it gives us one too few from New Jersey. In Connecticut we may fairly expect two more members to add to our list, and we can hardly fail to elect one Democrat there. We may thus count on electing from eighty five to eighty-eight members in the next House of Representatives.

This destroys the two-third majority; but it will not be suffered to stand so. The Republicans, following the custom they have already instituted, will expel or unseat a sufficient number, say some ten or twelve Democratic members, so as to secure their two-thirds majority; and in full anticipation of this unscrupulous course, we hear all over the country of defeated Republicans who are to contest the seats of Democratic members. The game will be played, and the country will stand it. It is safe just yet, but may not always be so.—Nat. Intel.

NOVEL BET ON THE ELECTION.—Two young men of this city made a bet on the Presidential election of the following character: The winner was to take his seat in a sulky with the American flag inscribed with the names of the successful candidates in one hand and a bouquet in the other, and be drawn by the loser down Pennsylvania Avenue. The bet is to be paid on the 11th instant, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at which hour the Seymour man, habited in a red shirt, is to "haul" the Grant man from Willard's to the Capitol.—Wash. Star, Nov. 6th.

The month of November is the best time in the whole year for planting trees.

GENERAL GRANT'S POLICY.

The following paragraph is extracted from the Journal of Commerce—a paper neutral in the late canvass. It would seem, from the terms employed, to speak by authority. If so, the importance of its statements cannot be overrated. We emphasize certain passages to attract to them particular attention:

"General Grant is not a Radical, and we have the very highest authority for saying that it is his purpose to separate himself from the extremists, and to rally around him a strong body of the better class of citizens, who shall draw unto them congenial allies from all quarters, and become, as they would deserve to be, the party of the country. He is also extremely anxious to verify his party watchword, and to lead the country at once to peace and renewed prosperity. This is his purpose, and no one can deny that it is a noble ambition. Not himself a politician, and with but little experience or skill in civil life, he does not, as we think, at all realize the difficulties in the way of such success as he covets. We do not says that he will fail, for he has undoubted pluck, and, besides four years of patronage at command, he will also have the advice and practical aid of some strong friends who do not usually intermeddle with public affairs. He will, of course, be first flattered and then roundly abused by those whose alliance he disdains. If Sumner is left out in the cold, according to the present programme, there will be heard at Washington a howl of rage every time the wind is in the East. If the South is treated kindly and justly, as Gen. Grant has privately promised, and the measures of reconstruction he has indicated as his choice are adopted, he will soon be classed by the Radicals of his party as "a rebel sympathizer," bent on throwing away all the fruits of the great national victory. There is a large class of politicians whose sole test of "a righteous peace" is some form of security for the permanent ascendancy of their party at the South. There can be no rest to the land until that idea is abandoned; and if this concession is now made by their chosen leader, he will be stigmatized most unsparingly as a traitor to their cause."

LOOK OUT FOR EARTHQUAKES.

"I warned the city of San Francisco of the calamity which has just so startled it, as next in order. Our Atlantic coast from New York South must, I fear, now suffer in turn; but it is a consolation that a body in motion is retarded in proportion to the distance traversed.

THE PARLIAMENTARY LEADER.—Butler is to lead the extreme Jacobins in the next session and in the next Congress. Notwithstanding the Jacobin press denounced him most mercilessly, and looked for his defeat, pending the canvass, outdoing the Democracy in bitterness, and bringing many iniquities to light, that remained concealed till the "rogues fall out" among themselves, his triumphant election demonstrates that he is the true representative of Massachusetts puritanism, and develops beauties in his lovely character which had previously escaped their notice, and he is now winning golden opinions from his late assailants in the Jacobin party.

We congratulate our fellow-citizens of Jacobin persuasion that they have so fit a leader. He is a true type of the thieving crew whom the people have again—but, thank Gon, for the last time—elected to power. In him will the infamies of this party be rendered the more conspicuous, and the more speedy and certain will be its downfall from this very conspicuousness.—The Jacobins are doing all things well.—They please us much.—N. Y. Democrat.

NEW YORK.

THE
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
Office, No. 69, Liberty Street.

The Original Joint Stock Life Insurance Company in the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the insurance of first-class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the Stock system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the MUTUAL, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum assured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURED, and CERTAIN; in lieu of a high rate of premium for a promised dividend which is DISTANT, CONTINGENT, and UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the "Universal" the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a Company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8,474.

The difference between these sums ($3,277) is exactly the same as an immediate bonus or addition to the policy to be paid by the former office to the holder of the policy in case of the early death of the insured. It is true that if the insured, in an office charging high rates, live long enough, and have his periodical dividends added to his policy, the sum may equal or surpass that above named; but it must not be forgotten that the chance of early death is the very thing the applicant desires to insure against, and consequently the greater the sum immediately secured contingent on this event, the greater the advantage to the policy-holder.

To illustrate the importance to the policy-holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one-third per cent greater, and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent., payable in advance, or to a dividend of forty-five per cent, payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in insurance of the premium paid is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

A full attendance is urgently requested, as business of much importance will come before the meeting.

THE LEGISLATURE meets in this city, on Monday next, the 16th inst.

THE MAJORITY for Seymour and Blair in the State of Maryland is 31,409.

THERE will be another election in New York city in about four weeks for Mayor, to fill the place of Governor Hoffman.—Aldermen, councilmen, &c., will also be chosen. The Tribune advises the Radicals to run no candidates of their own.

GOOD FEELING.—The following dispatch is transmitted by the Associated Press:

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 4.—The streets are thronged with people, and there is the wildest enthusiasm. A pleasing feature of the celebration was that a Seymour and Blair club came out with torches and joined in the procession, bearing a banner inscribed "Let us be friends." They were given the head of the line, and were received with tumultuous cheers.

"IMPARTIAL SUFFRAGE."—Dispatches to the New York Tribune state that, in Iowa and Minnesota, the amendments to the constitutions of those States, establishing "impartial suffrage," have been adopted in the late election. In Minnesota, according to the census of 1860, there were but 250 negroes, which would give about fifty colored voters. In Iowa there were 1,079 negroes, which would give 214 voters. The majority for the amendment in Iowa is reported at 20,000, and in Minnesota at 6,000.

EX-GOV. J. Madison Wells, of Louisiana, who was removed by order of Gen. Sheridan, has brought suit for the recovery of the salary accruing during the term for which he was chosen.

The Boston Post says that "Secretary Seward's marriage is said to have been prevented by the remonstrances of his family against his ringing that little belle."

FARCICAL.—One would suppose, from the flaming description of the Radical rush-light procession in this city, on Friday night, which the Woman Insulter of yesterday gives, that there were, at least,

"THIRTY THOUSAND IN LINE!"

and that it was

"SEVEN MILES LONG!"

as the same veracious and virtuous sheet asserted of the negro procession in Raleigh in September. Whereas it was the sickest demonstration we have ever seen. We suppose that there were some two or three hundred shouting negroes (mostly boys) in fine, but not a white man, we are informed.

The Woman Insulter gives the various speeches on the occasion. First came "Gov." Holden's factotum, W. R. Richardson. His speech was "happy." Next Jeemes Harris, whose speech was not only "happy," but "brilliant." Next, the procession, which had originally emerged from "Gov." Holden's stables, proceeded to "Gov." Holden's house, where the "Gov." made a very silly speech, in which he hinted at the possibility that the Republican party might yet prove false to the negro and expressed himself mighty sorry for his old secession sins. The "Gov." then introduced Chaplain Cayenne, of the 40th. Regiment, who talked to the darkeys about Prim, Serrano, the Septembrists and the Noyades, and quoted poetry and De Tocqueville,—the darkeys aforesaid manifesting their appreciation, as the Woman Insulter informs us, "by cheers and demonstrations of enthusiasm."

Then emerged Joseph William, whose speech was quite moderate, and as free from "turpentine" as a post-oak or a bickery. Next, the "Attorney General," who has at last become visible, talked about the "devil" and other subjects with which he is most familiar, when Daddy Kowles spoke a piece, about as long as one's little finger, and the band struck up "Hail to the Chief!"

Sweet, of Craven, next orated innocently, and was followed by "Judge" (in embryo) Guion, who discoursed about Jena and Austerlitz, (no allusions to the climatic theory—mirabile dictu.) Pilgrim Ashley, whose house had been illuminated, but who was apprehensive that the procession wouldn't go his way, (as it didn't,) next appeared and discoursed on "Peace," with the unction of Chadband:

"Why do I say peace, my friends! What is Peace? Is it war? No. Is it strife?—No. Is it contention? No. Therefore, I say, my friends, Peace be unto this house!"

The procession soon repaired to the headquarters of Gen. Miles, and we are told, by the jubilant Jenkins of the organ, that he delivered himself "with the dignity and grace of a chevalier,"—which is highly pleasing and beautiful to think of. Capt. Granger also chevalierized, but Jenkins has not favored the world with a report of the Captain's remarks—nor with those, a little later, of A. H. Galloway, (negro,) who is designated as "New Hanover's favorite son!" Oh! ye Gods and little fishes, Whar are Cantwell, French and Abbott?

Dewese also spoke and advised the crowd of negro boys to be "magnanimous," whereat they cheered lustily and waved their expiring torches; but when Kalvin Rogers came forward, with his intellectual countenance and beaming smile, and congratulated the negro boys that "Ulisses Grant was the great standard-bearer of the Republican party," their enthusiasm knew no bounds. Thus,

'Shook the hills with thunder riven,
And, louder than the bolts of Heaven, for resounded that big drum which colored Ben beats so lustily, when the "Tanners" do congregate, (C. M. Farris, President, and Jos. Wm., Captain.)

Spooner's fire-works finished the job; and thus concluded, says the Woman Insulter, "one of the most brilliant demonstrations ever seen in the city of Raleigh." In one sense, it was so. It was a brilliant burlesque, and, as such, exceeded anything "ever seen in Raleigh."

P. S. The Superintendent of Public Works, we omitted to mention, "was abed," but he got up and made a speech to the negro boys. We regard this as one of the decided features of the evening.

FLORIDA.—The present situation of affairs in this State illustrates most forcibly the "beauties of Congressional Reconstruction." Reed, the carpet bag Governor, has been in office but a few months, before he is impeached by his own supporters, and, refusing to surrender, there is every prospect of civil conflict in the State. Our telegrams, on yesterday, gave a history of the present condition of things, and we refer to our telegraphic columns, to day, for any later intelligence that may be received.—The following are the articles of impeachment against Reed:

1st. He has been guilty of falsehood and lying while transacting business with members of the Legislature and other officers of the State.

2nd. I charge him with incompetency, inasmuch as he has filled the commissions to offices in blank and other irresponsible persons having issued them.

3rd. He has issued a proclamation declaring many seats of the Legislature vacant before the members duly elected and returned had resigned or their legal term of service expired.

4th. He has been guilty of embezzlement—having taken from the State Treasury securities and money and sold such securities and then failed to return a portion or all of the proceeds of the sale to the treasury.

5th. He has been guilty of corruption and bribery—he having bartered and sold prominent offices in the State to sundry persons for money to him in hand paid and nominated such persons to the Senate for confirmation.

For and in consideration of these and many other crimes and misdemeanors, which have come to my knowledge, I ask at the hands of the Assembly the impeachment, for high crimes and misdemeanors, of Harrison Reed, Governor of Florida.

(Signed) HORATIO JENKINS, JR.

The last "feature" of a New York fashionable wedding is for the organist to play a low accompaniment to the words which the minister utters in performing the ceremony. A correspondent of the Home Journal attended a wedding, last week, and "noticed that the groom neglected to kiss his bride at the conclusion of the benediction, which was somewhat remarkable considering her rare personal charms."

From the Baltimore Sun.

THE PRESENT AND FUTURE OF THE SOUTH—THE EXAMPLES OF HISTORY.

There are those in the South, it is said, who indulge the gloomy apprehension that their section has been brought by the events of the war to the close of its career, and that the world, so far as they are concerned, has come to an end. The result of the late national election will intensify this conviction among persons of desponding temperament. Such a sentiment, as far as it has been produced by the war, is natural under the circumstances, which, however, most nations of the earth have had to encounter at some period or other, but which have visited the South for the first time. Other conquered races have had the same sad imagination. No doubt the Saxons concluded they had no future, when, eight hundred years ago, the brave Harold lost his life, and the Normans became masters of all England. For four succeeding generations England was ruled by Frenchmen; the offices were filled by French; the speech of the court was French; it was regarded as a degradation for a Norman prince to marry a Saxon princess; even the Saxon abbots and prelates were violently deposed, and when a Norman wished to deny a derogatary charge in the most forcible form, he indignantly asked, "Do you take me for an Englishman?" And yet the time came when to be an Englishman was the proudest boast of the descendants of the men who had uttered that scornful taunt. At the period when the two races, so long hostile, united in support of the great charter, the history of the English nation is truly said to have begun. The Saxon race, instead of being extinguished, has, in fact, given the dominating element to the character, opinions, customs and laws of England; laid the foundations of an empire on whose possessions the sun never sets, and of a language and literature which will live as long as the sun shines, and be the heritage not only of England, but of two hundred millions of people on this continent alone.

At a later period in English history, when Charles I was sent to the block, the cavalier party thought, no doubt, that its fortunes had gone down beyond the hope of resurrection, and therefore that the world had come to an end. That party might well have been gloomy and almost despairing, not only in view of its disastrous overthrow, but of that master spirit of the earth by whom its defeat had been accomplished, and of the steady, disciplined, solid squadrons whom he had trained to victory. After the fashion of all mankind, (when their cause is lost,) the cavaliers thought that the country and all creation had gone with it. Instead of that proving true, England became greater under Cromwell than she had ever been before, and, having fulfilled his mission, not only did the world and the country refuse to be ruined, but even the cavalier party came into power again and their representatives still lead the councils and the camps of Great Britain. Rip Van Winkle, after his twenty years' nap on the Catskill mountains, was not half so much astonished as a despairing cavalier of Charles' time would be, if he could rise from the dead and see what the little nation, not then containing five millions of people, whose whole annual revenue of the crown was about £1,400,000, has been doing since in every department of human progress. As he looked upon all this, and cast a glance at the colossal East Indian empire, (which has come into existence since his time,) he might rationally conclude that England never fairly began her race of material progress till after the time when, in the opinion of many, it seemed to have ended. And on the other hand, the Puritans who, at the period of the restoration, had reason to fear that their cause had become an utter failure, lived to see it spring up with redoubled energy in the new world, until at last they enjoyed the sweet consolation of being as able to persecute as others had been to persecute them.

When the tide of Gothic barbarism spread over the Roman world, it might well have appeared as if Christianity would never emerge from the deluge of heathendom. Yet the benevolent spirit of Christianity made captive the followers of Alaric and Clovis, and Rome, which had rocked to her foundations under the blows of the Teutonic chiefs, became the capital of a wider spiritual empire than that over which the imperial eagles had flown in the zenith of their greatness. Again, at the comparatively recent period when French republicanism was reveling up to its chin in the blood of its enemies, when it was attempted to depose the Almighty by statute, and a prostitute was deified as the Goddess of Reason, it might well have been feared by all rational Frenchmen that human society was finally dissolved. When that "child of the revolution," Napoleon Bonaparte, was overthrowing and distributing the monarchies of Europe among his followers, no doubt the world seemed to the dispossessed sovereigns to have come to an end. Prussia, in particular, when Napoleon, after the fearful work at Jena and Auerstadt, entered her capital in triumph, could scarcely have conceived that the current of her history, which seemed plunging into a bottomless abyss, would emerge ere long in a rejoicing stream, and, within the lifetime of a man, widen into a tide so broad and deep that even the lusty sinews of France hesitate to buffet the angry flood. It is a fact stated by all the annals of mankind that a race true to itself cannot perish by one or by many tribulations. Looking back upon the grand march of history, we find that the career of nations to greatness, both political and material, often begins at the very point where, to contemporary eyes, it seemed to have ended.

That is the lesson which the South ought to ponder. Why not say that instead of being brought to the end of its course, it has been brought to the beginning of another; that if its star has set in one horizon, it may hope to rise in a new and more spacious firmament? There is just as much profit in the hopeful as the desponding view. So far as the result of the late election is concerned, there is, at least, as good reason for hope as for despondency, in the fact that if the Republican party has triumphed, it has been by a recognition of the conservative spirit in the nomination of its candidate for the Presidency, and that the necessities of the country itself, as well as the liberal instincts of the successful candidate, as evinced in his course towards the paroled officers and soldiers of the South, indicate a policy of nationality and moderation. Why, then, should not the South hope, instead of despair? She is suffering now because she is in a transition state, but may it not be a transition to a new and grander arena of progress and prosperity? Why may not the twilight upon her be regarded as that which precedes the day-dawn, not the fall of night?

The Utica Observer thus speaks of Gov. Seymour:

"To-day Horatio Seymour appears a greater man than ever before. Those who once admired him, now love him. His name is enshrined in the hearts of two millions of his countrymen, and in all the changes that coming years may bring, in all the sorrows that befall or the dangers that encompass our land, the Democratic party will be proud to boast that in the great campaign of 1868 it offered to the country the solid statesmanship and ripe wisdom of Horatio Seymour, of New York."

Our Midnight Dispatches.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9, P. M.

Gen. Grant is here, attending to his routine duties. Many visitors call, but he don't seem to encourage conversation regarding his future action.

Two Congressmen and three Senators only are here.

The State Department advices indicate little progress in the Alabama claims. Seward, it seems, adds conditions to Johnson's proposed settlement, and there is a dead lock.

McCulloch decides that imported tobacco, snuff and cigars do not require revenue stamps, unless withdrawn from the Custom House for consumption or sale in the United States.

At Belvidere, Ohio, Grant addressed a Republican procession, saying:

"Gentlemen: I see many of you in uniforms. You laid them off three years ago, and you can now lay them off again, and we will have peace. Good night."

FROM GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, Nov. 9, P. M.

Gov. Bullock issues a proclamation, offering a reward of five thousand dollars for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who caused the death of Albert G. Ruffin, Sheriff of Richmond county, who was killed in the election riot at Augusta.

FROM FLORIDA.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 9, P. M.

Nothing of importance has transpired, since the report of Saturday, as to the impeachment or suit against Lt. Gov. Gleason and Secretary Alden—No indications of a disturbance of the public peace.

About half of the arms thrown from the cars have been recovered in good order and are in possession of United States troops.

All of the Judges of the Supreme Court are here, waiting the action of the Circuit Court.

REMARKABLE CASE OF PETRIFACTION.

About six years ago Mr. Amos Broughton died in Wayne county, in this State, and was buried there. After his death his widow and children moved to Buskirk's Bridge, in this county, where they now reside. A few days ago the family of the deceased resolved to bring the remains of the father from Wayne county, and have them deposited in a cemetery near their present residence. In furtherance of this purpose the grave was opened and the coffin exposed, but all ordinary efforts to lift it from its position proved ineffectual. The coffin lid was therefore removed, when it was found that the body was in the most perfect state of petrifaction. It was covered with a dry mould, which, when removed, revealed a surface almost as white and pure as marble. The body showed not the least particle of decay. Every feature and lineament was perfectly preserved, and when stood upright it presented the appearance of a finely chiseled statue. When Mr. Broughton died he weighed about two hundred pounds; while the remains had increased in weight by petrifaction to eight hundred pounds. Before the body was interred at Buskirk it was seen by the family, friends, and many others there. It is the most perfect and wonderful instance of petrifaction of human remains that has ever come to our knowledge.

EXTENSIVE SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

PURSUANT TO A DECREE OF GUILFORD Superior Court, we will expose to public sale, on the premises, at 12 o'clock, M., on Thursday, the 26th day of November, on a credit of six and twelve months, bond and approved security, that valuable plantation of the late Col. P. O. Evans, lying on the Yadkin River, at Holtsburg, in Davidson County, containing about 700 acres, more or less. A large proportion of said Land is cleared and in a fine state of cultivation. The improvements consist of a number of plank houses formerly used as negro houses, barns, &c.

Also, a building Lot of 9 acres, with two good buildings and Barn. Also, an undivided one-third interest in about 700 acres, more or less, of fine farming Land lying around the factory on the Yadkin River, upon which is a fine Water Power inexhaustible as the Yadkin itself.

We will also sell, at the Court House door in Newbern, on Wednesday, 9th of December, at 12 o'clock, on same terms, that magnificent Plantation upon which the late Col. Evans resided, situated 7 miles from Newbern, containing about 5 000 acres, known as the Gaston place, or Beech-wood. This is one of the very best places in North Carolina. The lands are of the very finest quality known in the Eastern part of this State, which is famous for its productiveness. The whole place is underlaid with one vast marl bed, immense quantities of which Col Evans used on the plantation. The marl is near the surface and easy to get at, and in inexhaustible quantities. There is a flourishing young Orchard on the place. Col. Evans having set out 4,000 Fruit Trees of the choicest varieties in 1865-'66. The improvements consist of a frame Dwelling House with five rooms, and all necessary out-houses for servants, carriage-house, &c. A large proportion of the place is ditched and drained and under cultivation, and is admirably adapted to cotton, corn, oats, hay, and all the products of this climate. There are also on the place large quantities of pine and cypress timber. Bryce's Creek, which is navigable, runs through the place, and on it and near the dwelling House is a very fine water-power where Col. E. had large Grist and Saw Mills, which were destroyed during the war.

Also, the Long Lake Plantation, situated about ten miles from Newbern and three from the Croatan Plantation, consisting of about 3,700 acres, more or less. It has upon it a large Dwelling House. The lands are of the finest quality and underlaid with marl. A large proportion of this tract is in Timber of the best quality.

Also, the Speight or Cutler tract, immediately opposite Newbern—across the Trent river—(upon which is located James City)—consisting of about 566 acres, more or less. This land is nearly all cleared and in cultivation, and is valuable for being so near the City of Newbern.

Also, 100 Shares of Stock in the Atlantic & N. C. Railroad, and 8 shares in the Clermont Bridge Company.

A Most Wonderful and Successful Invention!

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC

CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever exhibited in the United States.

THIS BOILER OPERATES UPON PURELY philosophical principles.

It is self-acting and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer by those who have used it.

All fabrics, from the finest laces to the bed-blanket, can be washed perfectly and with ease without the aid of the rubbing-board. For Flannels it is invaluable, as the rubbing, rolling, and pressing process, must necessarily fall them, more or less.

It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hateful, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.

The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

If the directions are strictly followed, success is certain.

The saving in the wear of clothes will very soon pay for the outlay.

It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.

Having purchased the exclusive interest and control of the Automatic Clothes Washer and Boiler, for North Carolina, we have established a depot in Raleigh, where we are prepared to fill orders or to sell COUNTY RIGHTS. Letters addressed to us at Raleigh, N. C., or Portsmouth, Va., will receive prompt attention.
